Every missed call is a patient who booked somewhere else.

A small clinic cannot keep someone on the phone all day and all night. We set up a receptionist that answers every call and WhatsApp message, books the visit, reminds the patient, and follows up the review visits you advised.

What we take off your desk

A receptionist that never misses a call

Calls and WhatsApp, day and night

Answers in a natural voice, gives your hours, fee and address, and books, moves or cancels the visit in your diary. Anything clinical is passed to you.

> Good evening, Dr. Sen's clinic. The doctor is in tomorrow from 5 pm. I can give you 5:20 or 6:00. Which suits you?

Reminders

Fewer empty chairs

A confirmation when the visit is booked and a reminder before it. The patient confirms or changes the time with one reply.

> Reminder: you see Dr. Sen tomorrow at 5:20 pm. Reply 1 to confirm, R to change the time.

Follow-ups you advised

Review visits that really happen

When you tell a patient to come back in two weeks or in six months, we remind them when it is due and offer a new time to the ones who missed.

> Hello Ananya, Dr. Sen asked to see you again around Friday. Reply with a day that suits you and we will book it.

One sheet every morning

Your clinic at a glance

Patients seen, who did not come, follow-ups due this week, and the calls that were caught while the clinic was closed.

> Yesterday: 14 patients seen, 1 did not come, 3 follow-ups due this week, 2 calls caught after hours.

How it works

1

You tell us how your clinic runs

Your hours, fees, doctors and the rules for your front desk. It takes about fifteen minutes on a call.

2

You hear it before patients do

We set up the receptionist and the messages. You call it yourself, read every message, and change whatever you like.

3

It goes live on your number

Calls you cannot take are answered, reminders go out, and every morning you get the sheet.

Made for

Dental clinics · Skin and cosmetic clinics · Eye clinics · Women's health and fertility clinics · Orthopaedic and physiotherapy clinics · Doctors with their own clinic

The sum is simple

> Take a clinic that misses 4 calls a day. If only 1 of them would have booked, that is about 25 appointments a month going to another clinic. Add the patients who were asked to come back and never did. These are sums, not promises: what you gain depends on your clinic, and your morning sheet shows exactly which calls were caught and which visits were booked.

Pilot clinics

We are setting this up with a small number of clinics in each city first. A pilot runs for two weeks on one doctor's diary, and you decide after seeing the morning sheets.

Terms and price are agreed with each clinic in writing before anything goes live. Calls are answered on your clinic's own number. Messages go from your clinic's own WhatsApp Business number or e-mail, only to patients who agreed to them.

Safe for your patients, safe for you

No medical advice, ever

The receptionist handles appointments and questions about the clinic. Symptoms, medicines and results are passed to you, and emergencies are sent to the nearest emergency department.

Only patients who agreed

Messages go from your clinic's own number to patients who gave it to you and agreed to hear from you. Every message says how to stop.

Your patients' data stays yours

We work under a written agreement with your clinic, use the data only for your messages, and delete it when you ask.

Want to hear it answer as your clinic?

Reply to our e-mail with a day and time for a 15-minute call. You talk to the receptionist as a patient would and see the messages your patients would get. No obligation, and nothing goes live without your yes.
